

Korean Language Proficiency Exam results will be released today.

Written by jayasingha

Friday, 01 November 2013 07:04 -

The Foreign Employment Bureau says the Korean Language Proficiency Exam results will be released today. Candidates could view their results via websites: www.slbfe.lk, www.eps.go.kr and www.hrdkorea.or.kr

The test was held for the 11th time in Sri Lanka to select Lankan youths for around 4,000 Korean jobs. It is said that over 20,536 candidates sat for the test held on October 19 and 20th at six schools in Colombo.

This year's exam was only to select employees to the production, fisheries and construction sectors. Through in the test means the basic qualification for recruitment of Lankan youths to find a sure job in Korea.

At present over 25,000 Lankans are working in South Korea and being paid well up to 3,000 US dollars monthly.